En la primera fase del proyecto para transformar el vacío urbano de 6.000m² en un nuevo espacio público, se construye una estructura de varillas de acero corrugado que restituyen la geometría de la cávea original dibujando sus directrices y generatrices.

The first phase of the project to transform the large urban vacuum of 6,000 m² into a new public space consists in building a structure of corrugated steel rods that restore the geometry of the original cavea through its guidelines and generatrices.
